- What design principle did you find most useful?

It would be repetition since all I had to do was be consistent for my visual elements across all slides, so it made me think that I have to be considerate in what I include in the slides.

- What part of Canva was easiest/hardest to use?

The hardest part would be the design since at first you don't know have you want to include, thus leading to many minutes of trial and error. I had a hard time regarding shapes/backgrounds that I wanted to use in the tools panel.

- What did you learn about visual communication?

I think it would be how a presentation isn't just about content, but how that content is presented. As the ppt said, but yeah, a good design really helps in speaking to your audience a lot better.
